LEGATION RAISES FLAG

No Further Observance of Anniversary Owing to Absence of French Diplomats.

Today is the great French national holday, corresponding to the American Fourth of July and commemorating the fall of the Bastile. Owing to the absence from Washington of the French ambassador, M. Jusserand, and the presence here of only one member of his staff, no celebration was held at the embassy aside from the raising of the effect. Vermillion vs. Vermillion, Charles Boehlein appointed guardian ad litem. In re Hughes; order to lease sale finally ratified. Leggett vs. Robin-tional holiday. It is like the Fourth of and George W. Williams appointed receivers; Doon vs. Goodall; sale finally review of the army at Longchamps by ratified. Speer et al. vs. Mosher et al.; the President and the other high officials time extended in which to record in Court of Appeals.

Bankruptcy Court—Justice Anderson—In re William D. Tennille; adjudication of bankruptcy and order of reference; people of the city can see them. In the colonies the celebration is taken as the occasion for holding patriotic banpeople of the city can see them. In the colonies the celebration is taken as the occasion for holding patriotic banquets, at which enthusiasm for the mother country holds full sway.

F. T. RAWLINGS RESIGNS AS GRAND JURY FOREMAN

The grand jury today appeared before Justice Anderson in order to permit F.

T. Rawlings to resign his position as T. Rawlings to resign his position as foreman of the body. Archibald M. Mc-Laughlin was appointed by the court to fill the position. Mr. Rawlings will remain as a member of the jury.
